Profile

Chris has extensive experience working in both health and education within statutory services. He has worked within statutory services in both acute London teaching hospitals and community services across a wide range of specialisms including Intensive care and Paediatric Intensive care in a meningitis tertiary referral centre, which included supporting adult and paediatric patients with amputation and brain injury.

Chris has also worked across fracture and orthopaedic and neuro-orthopaedic clinics. In the community settings, Chris has worked in both mainstream and special school environments supporting children with brain injury.

More recently Chris has worked with a conductive education charity to set up physiotherapy services and developed this into a comprehensive interdisciplinary service for the charity.

Chris also established a successful independent physiotherapy company which grew to a multi-site multidisciplinary organisation which he sold in 2022. Chris's focus now is on catastrophic injury case management. He is able to use his clinical knowledge of the wider rehabilitation sector and extensive management and coordination experience to give families a high level of support in navigating life post injury.

Testimonial

"Chris is a highly professional case manager with excellent inter-personal skills and clinical skills. He has extensive knowledge of the paediatric sector and the services available, which enable to meet the goals of his clients. He maintains an excellent relationship with all parties involved and has an empathetic approach to clients, ensuring their goals are at the forefront of his work." - Rehabilitation Professional

"Chris worked tirelessly for my young client whilst providing much needed support to the parents, ensuring that he received the best possible rehabilitation." - Personal Injury, Partner, Solicitors
