Profile

With many years of experience in clinical and leadership roles as a physiotherapist, Jamie is highly skilled in managing client led rehabilitation plans throughout their recovery journey, from acute and complex care to return to work and sport.

Jamie is a hardworking and motivated case manager who holds the client's values and goals at the heart of his practice. He has experience of working with clients with brain injuries, polytrauma, complex orthopaedic trauma and pain conditions in both healthcare and private settings.

Jamie has excellent communication skills and values honesty and transparency to ensure all parties are kept informed in a timely manner to support the case's progress. If you were to work with Jamie you can expect to get an empathetic, motivating individual who will be with you to achieve your goals every step of the way.

Testimonial

"Jamie is an excellent case manager. His attention to detail is always high as is the quality of service he delivers. He can respond to clients, the litigation team, and therapy team in a timely and professional manner at all times. He can communicate and solve problems with ease. He has a positive outlook, and it has been a pleasure to work collaboratively with him. He is open to feedback and always tries to improve and develop the services he works in. His managerial skills shone through in his role as case manager. Jamie ensures he strives to ensure his clients achieve their desired rehabilitation goals."
